DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 11/13/02 has been entered.

Specification

2. The following is a quotation of an appropriate paragraph of 37 CFR 1.75:

(d) The claim or claims must conform to the invention as set forth in the remainder of the specification and the terms and phrases used in the claims must find clear support or antecedent basis in the description so that the meaning of the terms in the claims may be ascertainable by reference to the description. (See 1.58(a)).

3. Specification is objected under 37 C.F.R. 1.75(d) because a trough-shaped clamping part (see Claim 32) has not been described in the specification.

4. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: Page 3, line 4: "4" should be changed to -- 6 --.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 32-42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Teagno et al. in view of Applicant's admitted prior art (AAPA).

Teagno (Figures 1-4) shows a device for connecting an electrode (pin) 14 to a wire 7 having an exterior sheath and a conductive core. The device has a solderable conductive body with a first pair of clamping arms 6 for pressing and securing the wire, a second pair of clamping arms for pressing and securing the conductive core of the wire, and a trough-shaped clamping part with sides 11 extending at right angles to the body, which snap-fit over the electrode 14 for pressing and securing the electrode. The first clamping arms can clinch the wire to prevent solder from flowing up the conductive core. The trough-shaped clamping part is integral with the body and includes a clamping structure 13, which is parallel with the body.

But Teagno does not show the electrode to be that of a lamp and the lamp and the electrode fixed by a clamp having clamping features. A lamp having an electrode and a means to hold the lamp and the electrode is common knowledge. AAPA (Figures 1-2 of the instant invention) shows a lamp 2 with an electrode, and the lamp and the electrode fixed in a trough-like clamp with clamping features. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the instant invention to use the Teagno's clamping device in the AAPA's lamp with electrode or vice versa because this would provide a means to securely hold the lamp and the electrode, and securely connect the lamp's electrode to an electric wire.
